You can be comfortable in the knowledge that your archetypal, essential nature, especially your gentle conservatism, is just what the situation demands until at least April or May. Well, by April you should be ready to rouse yourself, seize control of the situation and impose your will in your gentle but uncompromising manner.

This is sure to be an ambitious period and even if you have paid no attention to December will be full of initial financial worries but a new career path and additional sources of income will be revealed, much to your relief. Whatever happens, remember that Jupiter, a jovial and beneficial planet, is well-placed to support you all year, helping you to broaden your ambitions and achieve your aims.

This year you should seek professional advice to get a better understanding and June are the most hopeful months for financial improvements, while February and July favour advances in your career. Even when your plans do not work out early in the year, you can look forward to a period, in the middle of the year, when all your prayers will be answered.
