Then they wonder why their lives have not changed. Is the Bible True? But if it bears thorns and thistles, it is worthless and near to being cursed; its end is to be burned. Even if they did, we would not know if they came back to faith later in their lives. Without Jesus Christ the pagans were spiritually dead and spiritually lost. Yes, believers sin, but do not live in a state of continual sin. This is a summary and rebuttal to their arguments.

God does not want us to be spiritually lost in anyway. What is the difference between eternal security, once saved always saved, and perseverance of the saints? For example, we sometimes see good Christian men turn away from the Gospel and commit a very serious sin.
